DISCUSSION

Project is a small research work which has all the wings of research activities in a condensed form and it is such an activity which is to see what everybody has seen and is such an activity which is to see what everybody has seen and is to think what nobody else has thought. A project is a supreme, momentous effort and commenced to accomplish designed goals. A research project maybe of different types such as Exploratory, Descriptive, Analytical, Predictive, Historical, Comparative, Correlation, Experimental, Evaluation, Action, Ethnographic, etc. Though, the main objective of the study is to make the researcher familiar with the meaning of research work and various wings of the research work yet the study will also consider as discussing various outlooks of research work and its structure.

OBJECTIVES DISCUSSED

1. To make the researcher familiar with the various wings of research work.
2. To discuss the various outlook of research and its structure.
3. A project of research activities may be classified in various different ways.
4. An abstract should be a brief quintessence of a large project such as an analysis, thesis, activities, performance, research issues and service projection.
5. An introduction should be a skillful analysis, because introduction is the first part of an essay that the reader faces and the wages are clearly sublime for the introduction to get success.
6. A project should be contributed with the pertinent background instead of a real argument.
7. A project should not be based on frequently repeated phrases or opinions.
8. The writer should determine the reader throughout the essay or project that his content is worth reading.
